COVER SLIDE

Include the following on your cover slide:

- Name of your startup/team
- Team members (names, titles, roles, etc.)
- Photos of team members or technology are allowed

Business Thesis

- Provide a succinct value proposition statement for your product/service that describes (100 words max.):
  - your target customer
  - their problems
  - your product/service
  - How it will benefit them
- Highlight how your value proposition statement has changed based on the results of sprint #2

ECOSYSTEM MAP

- Think of all the organizations involved in solving the problem you are targeting
- Try to group them together and draw relationships between them as appropriate
- The is no prescriptive way to map an ecosystem
- The next slide illustrates some examples you might find useful in mapping yours

INSTRUCTIONS FOR HYPOTHESIS SLIDES

- Complete at least one of the following hypothesis test learning slides for the interviews completed during sprint #2:
  - Identify your customer segment (be as precise as possible)
  - Identify the application area or industry related to the customer segment
  - Provide the number of interviews conducted related specifically to testing this hypothesis
  - Describe the hypothesis that was tested
  - Indicate using a circle whether the hypothesis was validated
  - Discuss your learnings and any insights gained; feel free to add quotes directly from your interviews
  - Discuss the impact of what you have learned on your next steps (e.g. new hypotheses, different customer segments, etc.)
- An example is provided of what is expected
- Make a copy of the blank template before completing if you plan to present more than one hypothesis

Customer Segment: Nurses in medium-size hospitals	# of Interviews = 2	Industry: Healthcare

Hypothesis:

We believe that nurses struggle to measure the patient's vital signs due to the bulkiness of hospital equipment.

		*For this customer segment the user of my solution is not the same as my customer

Learnings or Insights :

1. Nurses approx spend the first 10 minutes of their interaction with a patient moving around equipment to be able to take a patient's vital signs.
2. The equipment currently available only allows the nurse to check the patient's vital sign directly from the equipment connected to the patient.
3. One nurse said: "when I come see a patient the first thing I need to do is take their vital signs, usually I need to check the equipment and I make sure I have easy access to the patient. That always takes some time! It is very annoying… and some of the equipment we have here is quite outdated…"
4. Nurses are not the decision maker for the solution I am building.

Next Steps:

I will contact 20 hospital administrators to validate if the problem is important enough for them as it is for the nurses
